

Muse

6-29-11

I woke up from sleep on Monday, 5-27-11, with a guitar part in my head. It was 5:30 AM. I got my guitar out and captured it as best I could. On Wednesday morning a song fell out from it. I captured the moment by using the rift, adding the experience, and adding additional melody. This is the song that came out of this experience.

After You're Gone

Intro: C F C

Am
After you're gone,
G
I sit in the quiet of the morning
F C G
I watch the breeze flow through the trees
Am
After you're gone,
G
The room is empty without your movement,
F Dm G
Little Eva and I, we wait for you.

Intro

After you're gone,
I hear an echo of your singing
We sang a song of love, we two
After you're gone,
There is only memories that linger
Little Eva and I, we wait for you

After you're gone,
I wonder where our fate will take us,
There is no promise beyond the day.
After you're gone,
I do not want for anything.
F Dm
Just Eva and I
Em Am
Oh, just Eva and I
F Dm G (break) C to Intro
Little Eva and I, we wait for you

Intro on out.....

Written by twi 6-29-11